

Claim for reimbursement of travelling expenses for study periods abroad 2020/21

Use this form to claim reimbursement of your travel costs if you are studying abroad as part of your course in 2020/21.

Important: please read these notes before completing the form overleaf.

You can claim the costs of any reasonable travel you undertake. You must have:

- Paid the first £309 of travel costs.
- Used the cheapest means of travel available.
- Used any concessions that are available to you. If you save money by using a Young Person's Railcard or similar purchased concession scheme, you can claim for the cost of the card as well.
- Used public transport. You can claim for private transport only if it is cheaper or there is no public transport. Private transport can only be reimbursed on a discretionary basis.

Reimbursement of travel costs is subject to your financial circumstances. If you must contribute to your student finance, and you do not receive any other income-assessed finance, you may have to contribute more than £309 to your travel costs. We must deduct this contribution from your travel grant.

You can claim for the following journeys:

- Travel between the UK and your university or college at the start and end of your time there.
- Up to two other return journeys during the year if you received permission to return home at vacations.
- Journeys between your residence and your university or college whilst you were abroad.

As well as travel, you may be able to claim for certain related costs as follows:

- We'll refund the medical expenses portion of your insurance policy, subject to your financial circumstances. This is normally 40% of the total premium. We'll need to see copies of receipts for the cost of your policy. This includes travel to countries where the UK has reciprocal healthcare agreement.
- The costs of vaccinations and visas if they were required for entry to the country in which you were studying. We will need to see copies of receipts for these costs.

To find out how we'll use the information you provide go to [www.studentfinance ni.co.uk/privacynotice](http://www.studentfinance ni.co.uk/privacynotice) to read our Privacy Notice before completing this form.

You can claim the cost of a discount concession scheme, such as a Young Person's Railcard, but only if you used it to save money on the costs of the travel you are claiming on this form.
